SOLAR AND LUNAR ECLIPSES IN 1849.

☉	☽	☉	☽
Feb. 22.	March 8.	Aug. 18.	Sept: 2.

There will be four eclipses this year—two Solar and two Lunar.

I. The first will be an invisible eclipse of the Sun, February 22d, at 8*h*. 27*m*. in the evening. This eclipse, though invisible in New-England, will be visible and annular to some parts of the Earth where the Sun is above the horizon.

II. The second will be a partial eclipse of the Moon, March the 8th; visible, if no clouds intervene.

	H.	M.
Beginning, ...	6	34	Apparent time in the evening. Sun slow of clock, 11*m*. Moon's latitude North Ascending.
Middle, ...	8	2
Ecliptic Opposition, .	8	8
End, ...	9	30

Duration, 2 hours and 56 minutes. Quantity eclipsed, 8 2-3 digits nearly, or about three fourths of the Moon's diameter, on its southerly limb, in the north side of the earth's shadow. At the end of the eclipse the Moon will be nearly in the south-east, and about two hours east of the planet Jupiter.

III. The third will be a solar eclipse, August the 18th, at 0*h*. 44*m*. in the morning—therefore invisible to us, but visible and total to some of the inhabitants of Asia.

IV. The fourth will be an eclipse of the Moon, September the 2d, at 31 minutes past 12 o'clock at noon, consequently invisible in our horizon. The phases of this eclipse at several places in Asia, and at the Cape of Good Hope, will be nearly as follows:

	Beginning.			Middle.			End.
	D.	H.	M.	D.	H.	M.	D.	H.	M.
Canton, . .	2	10	54 ev.	3	0	26 mor.	3	1	58 mor.
Siam (City) .	2	10	10	2	11	42 ev.	3	1	14
Calcutta, . .	2	9	15	2	10	47	3	0	19
Ceylon, (Isl.) . .	2	8	43	2	10	15	2	11	47 ev.
Jerusalem, . .	2	5	43	2	7	15	2	8	47
Cape of G. H.,	2	4	35	2	6	7	2	7	39

At Jerusalem and the Cape of Good Hope the eclipse will begin before the moon rises. The moon will be rather more than 9 digits eclipsed, in the south side of the earth's shadow, at all places where it is visible.

Next Great Solar Eclipse.—The next great eclipse of the Sun, visible in New-England, will happen May the 26th, 1854.

Transits.—The next transit of the planet Mercury over the Sun will happen Nov. 12, 1861. Next transit of the planet Venus, Dec. 9, 1874.

The Earth's Shadow.—Some have wondered why they cannot always see the earth's shadow in every clear night, since it is dense enough to eclipse the moon. They do see it. The darkness of night is the earth's shadow, but the image is not visible except when reflected by something more solid than air.

M'FARLAND, PRINTER, CONCORD.

Nullius addictus jurare in verba magistri.—Lat. HORACE.—"Not bound to swear or speak according to the dictates of any master." This quotation is fairly used by a writer professing to give, and using only his own free, honest, and independent opinions.

Nil enim prodest, quod lædere non possit idem. Lat.—"Nothing can be of advantage which is not also convertible to purposes of injury."—This broad maxim applies to every kind of physical and moral agency. Thus, fire, which is so necessary, may be rendered most mischievous; and that eloquence which sometimes saves the innocent, may be made the instrument of rescuing the guilty.

Facilitate nihil esse homini melius atque clementia. Lat.—"I have found by experience that nothing is more useful to man than a spirit of mildness and accommodation."—In the various contacts of human life, the man of bland and gentle manners will, in general, win his way, before the person who aims to gain his object by a coarse and undistinguishing austerity.

Maximus in minimis. Lat.—" Very great in very little things." —A studious attention to petty objects is the sure sign of a narrow mind. When Cardinal Chigi told another member of the corps diplomatique that the same pen had served him for three years, he was instantly and properly set down as a man whose mind was not framed for any enlarged or liberal discussion.

Some interesting Events in New Hampshire, chronologically arranged, beginning with the first discovery and settlement, to the Revolution, and formation of a temporary government in 1776.

[These events are principally obtained from Belknap's History of New Hampshire to 1774; and later from written documents to be found at the office of the Secretary of State.]

1614. Among the voyagers who ranged the shores of northern America, to obtain fish and furs, Capt. John Smith was one of the most noted; he ranged along the coast from Penobscot to Cape Cod, and discovered Piscataqua river. Capt. Smith returned to England, published a description of the country, with a map of the sea-coast, and presented one to Prince Charles, who named the country New England. Thomas Hunt, who commanded an accompanying ship, was left behind, and very imprudently decoyed about twenty of the native Indians on board of his vessel, carried them to Malaga, and sold them for slaves. For this act of perfidy, a seed was implanted in the breast of the Indian, which took deep root, and finally spread into jealousy, hatred and bloodshed toward the whites.

1606. A patent was granted by King James, of the country lying between the 34th and 44th degrees of north latitude, and the country was named Virginia, divided into north and south Virginia, and the whole assigned to certain noblemen, knights and gentlemen.

1620. "The King, by his sole authority, constituted a council, consisting of forty noblemen, knights and gentlemen," for the planting and governing New England in in America.

1621. Capt. John Mason obtained a grant of land lying between Naumkeag river, (now Salem,) round Cape Ann to the Merrimack river; and up each of the rivers to their farthest head waters; then to cross over from the head of one to that of the other; with all the islands lying within three miles of the coast; and the country was called Mariana.

1622. Another grant was made to Gorges and Mason, jointly, of all the country between the Merrimack and Sagadehock, extending to the great Lakes and river of Canada, and called this country Laconia.

1623. The grantees and others attempted to establish a colony and fishery at the river Piscataqua; and in the spring of this year sent over David Thompson, a Scotchman, and Edward and William Hilton, London fishmongers, and others. The Hiltons settled on land called by the Indians Winnichannat, but named by them Northam,—afterwards, Dover.

1628. One Morton, contrary to the proclamation of the King, sold guns and ammunition to the Indians, which caused much alarm and trouble. Morton was finally taken prisoner and sent to England for trial.

1629. The name of New-Hampshire was given to the tract of land lying between the rivers Merrimack and Piscataqua, and up the same to their head waters, and sixty miles farther, together with all islands within five leagues of the coast. This was a new patent, procured by Capt. Mason.

1631. A small tract of land was granted to Edward Hilton, called the Swamscot Patent, now containing Dover, Durham, and Stratham, with a part of Greenland and Newington. Gorges and Mason had further grants made them this year, and others.

A single glance at the preceding named grants will show that they very much conflicted one with another; hence the litigation which continued through a long period, and was not finally settled until near the close of the Revolution.

1632. The White Mountains were discovered by Capt. Neal and others.

1633. Portsmouth was surveyed and laid out as a town. Bread, at this time, was either brought from England in meal, or from Virginia in grain, and ground at a wind-mill in Boston. This year a meeting-house was built at Dover, and William Leverich, a puritan minister from England, became their preacher for a short time.

1634. One Burdet, a minister from Yarmouth, England, was settled at Dover, who, from his good address, art and duplicity, raised such a jealousy among the people against Capt. Wiggin, their Governor, that they removed him from office and elected Burdet.

1638. Burdet's true character was made fully evident to the people; and, on being detected in some lewd actions, suddenly left the plantation.

This year Isaac Grosse, Nicholas Needham, and Thomas Wilson, were chosen rulers, and solemnly took the oath to discharge faithfully the duties of their office; and the people were as solemnly sworn to obey them.

1641. The people of Dover and Portsmouth put themselves under the government of Massachusetts.

1642. Exeter petitioned the Court, and were admitted under the jurisdiction of Massachusetts.

1643. A new county was formed called Norfolk, and contained Salisbury, Haverhill, Hampton, Exeter, Portsmouth and Dover. These towns were then large, and contained all the lands between the rivers Merrimack and Piscataqua.

1652. Joseph Mason came over as agent to the executrix, to look after the interest of her husband, Capt. John Mason, who died 1635. The agent, in the purposes of his mission met with but little success, and soon returned to England.

1660. On the restoration of king Charles, Robert Tufton, grandchild to John Mason, and who took the surname of Mason, petitioned the king to secure to him property by the will of his grandfather. The king referred it to his Attorney General, who reported in favor.

1664. The king commissioned four persons with full power to visit the colonies in New England, to examine and determine all complaints and appeals in matters civil, military and criminal. The success of these commissioners was favorable, except in Massachusetts and New-Hampshire; and in these colonies the demands of the commissioners were refused. The commissioners returned in 1666.

1669. Portsmouth agreed to give sixty pounds per annum, for seven years, to erect a new building of brick at Cambridge, for Harvard College. Dover gave thirty-two pounds, and Exeter ten, for the same purpose.

1671. Joshua Moody was settled as a minister in Portsmouth, under the approbation of the general court, according to the usual custom.

1674. The heirs of Mason and Gorges not having obtained their rights in territory, proposed to join and convey their claims to the crown, to make a government for the Duke of Monmouth, but it was not carried into execution.

1675. This year the Indians rose in mass, full of hatred and revenge against the whites, with a determination to exterminate them. Many men, women and children were inhumanly butchered. Fortunately, however, the winter was so severe, and the Indians lost so many of their number by starvation and war, that they sued for peace.

1676. The noted chief, king Philip, was slain. This year the heirs of Mason again petitioned the king for the restoration of territory in New-Hampshire.

1680. New-Hampshire was formed into a separate Province and government by the king, and John Cutts, of Portsmouth, was appointed President. President Cutts died in March, 1681, and Richard Waldron succeeded to the Presidency.

1682. Edward Cranfield was commissioned by the king as Lieutenant Governor and commander in chief of New Hampshire.

1684. Cranfield marked Rev. J. Moody as an object of vengeance, for the freedom and plainness of speech used in his pulpit discourses. He was imprisoned for refusing to administer, on the demand of Cranfield, the Lord's Supper in the episcopal form, according to the statutes of England. Moody refused, and his defence was that he had not been ordained, and that the statutes were not intended to be put in force in the Colonies. For the offence, Moody was imprisoned six months.

1685. An agent was sent out to England, to represent the conduct of Cranfield to the king, and after examination he was deposed, and Walter Barefoote took the chair. The decisions of Cranfield's courts were considered extrajudicial in respect to the titles of Mason's heirs, in the Report of the Lords, and a royal order had been issued to suspend farther proceedings. Barefoote disregarded this order, and allowed the sheriffs to make levies for rents; but the sheriffs were resisted, and they attempted to take the rioters. In this they were not successful; and in one attempt, during divine service, a young heroine knocked down one of the officers with her bible.

1686. Mason leased to Hezekiah Usher the mines and minerals of New Hampshire, for one thousand years, reserving to himself one-fourth of the royal ores, and one-seventeenth of the baser sorts.

Joseph Dudley was commissioned President, whose jurisdiction extended over New England. He died in Roxbury, April 2, 1720, aged 72.

1687. Edmund Andros was made President, who pretended that as the charter had been vacated by the king, all titles to land were annulled, and that an Indian's deed was no better than "the scratch of a bear's paw." Such was Andros' tyranny that he prohibited town-meetings, except for the choice of officers, and no person was allowed to leave the country without a permit from him. Amidst all this vigilance, the indefatigable Increase Mather got on board of a ship and sailed with complaints to the king.

1689. Upon rumors of an intended massacre by Andros' guard in Boston, on the 8th of April, Andros, with some of his principals, were taken and sent to England as prisoners of state. Simon Bradstreet, with an able council, assumed the name of Council of Safety; and New Hampshire was under the government of Massachusetts until 1692. Mason died this year, leaving two sons, John and Robert, heirs to his claims.

1689. Five garrisoned houses in Dover were surprised by the Indians—23 people killed, and 29 taken captives.

1692. John Usher was appointed Lieutenant Governor. This year the heirs of Mason sold their claims to lands in New Hampshire, to Samuel Allen, of London, who commissioned John Usher to establish them. He died at Medford, Mass., Sept. 5, 1726, aged 78.

1697. William Partridge, a native of Portsmouth, was commissioned Lieutenant Governor. He died in Newbury, January 3, 1729, aged about 75.

1698. Samuel Allen was commissioned Governor. He died May 4, 1705.

1699. Richard Coote, Earl of Bellamont, was appointed Governor of New York, Massachusetts and New Hampshire. His government was short, as he died March 5, 1701.

1700. Allen renewed his claims from Mason's heirs, but without recovery. Allen then petitioned the king, as the last resort.

1702. Joseph Dudley was commissioned Governor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, by Queen Anne.

1705. At a general meeting of Deputies at Portsmouth, resolves were passed in the shape of propositions to Allen for a final settlement as to his claims; but Allen suddenly died, which put an end to further proceedings. He left one son, Thomas, and four daughters.

Thomas renewed the suit, by bringing a new writ of ejectment. The case went against him, and next he appealed to her Majesty in Council; but before the case was decided, Allen died, 1715.

1703. Commenced what was called Queen Anne's War, which continued until 1714, during which the Provinces suffered very much from the Indians.

1715. George Vaughan was appointed Lieutenant Governor. He died in December, 1725, aged 49.

1716. Samuel Shute was commissioned Governor over New Hampshire and Massachusetts. He died in England, April 15, 1742, aged 80.

1717. John Wentworth was appointed Lieutenant Governor.

1722. John Wentworth was commander in chief in Shute's absence. He died at Portsmouth, December 12, 1727, aged 59.

1724. Captains Moulton and Harman, of York, each with a company of one hundred men, marched to Norridgwog, surprised that village, killed the noted Jesuit, Ralle, and about eighty of his Indians.

1725. Capt. Lovewell and eight of his men were killed in a most desperate fight with the Indians, in the northeasterly part of the State.

1728. William Burnet was commissioned Governor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He died September 7th, 1729, aged 41.

1730. Jonathan Belcher was appointed Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. He died the 31st of August, 1757, aged 75.

1731. David Dunbar was appointed Lieutenant Governor.

1741. Benning Wentworth was commissioned Governor, and was the first separate Governor of New Hampshire after 1700. He died at Portsmouth, October 14, 1770, aged 74.

1745. Cape Breton and the strong place of Louisburg, in Nova Scotia, under the French government, were taken by an expedition formed of troops from New Hampshire and Massachusetts. New Hampshire furnished about five hundred men.

1746. Mason sold his claim to a company of twelve persons, for fifteen hundred pounds. This put a stop to the Masonian controversy, with the exception of the boundary line between New Hampshire and adjoining territory, which continued until the Revolution.

1755. Three expeditions fitted out against the French and Indians—one against Duquesne, on the Ohio, second against Niagara, and third against Crown Point. New Hampshire furnished five hundred men.

1756. Three companies of rangers were raised, and the command given to Robert Rogers, William Stark, and that brave and faithful officer, John Stark.

1757. The war with Canada was put under the direction of William Pitt, one of the British ministry.

1759. Quebec was taken by Gen. Wolfe, who was slain in the battle. The Indian village, St. Francis, in Canada, was surprised and taken by Major Rogers, with two hundred rangers.

1760. Montreal was taken, and Canada subjugated to the British crown, which gave peace to the frontiers of New Hampshire, after a war of fifteen years.

1765, Nov. 1st, the stamp-act was to go into operation. The stamped paper was prepared in England, and sent over for Massachusetts and New Hampshire, with an officer to distribute the paper and receive the stamp duties. It was left at the castle, in Boston harbor, and the officer found his only safety in giving up his commission, and not attempting to distribute the paper, as the people were determined not to make use of it.

1767. John Wentworth was commissioned Governor of New Hampshire, and Surveyor-General of the king's woods in North America.

1769. Some improvements were made to advance the cause of literature, and Dartmouth College was established.

1771. New Hampshire was divided into five counties—Rockingham, Strafford, Hillsborough, Cheshire and Grafton. The courts were not established in Strafford and Grafton until 1773. Their business was done in Rockingham.

1774. This year was noted for the destruction of tea in Boston—for British troops being quartered there,—importation of gun-powder prohibited, and the port of Boston finally closed—meetings, called Congresses, in the colonies, for the purposes of consulting on questions of great moment respecting the oppressive acts of the British government, and endeavor to cement brotherly love, and the strength of the colonies.

1774, May 10, at a meeting of the General Assembly of New Hampshire, which met at Portsmouth, the House of Representatives, notwithstanding the remonstrance of Gov. Wentworth, appointed a committee of correspondence, for the purpose of interchange of important information with committees in the other colonies, appointed for similar duties.

1774, July 21, eighty-five deputies met at Exeter, and delegated Nathaniel Folsom and John Sullivan to attend the proposed Congress to meet in Philadelphia Sept. next.

1775, January 25th, a second convention of deputies met at Exeter, to consult on the affairs of the colony. This convention appointed Major Sullivan and Captain Langdon to attend the next general Congress, to be held in Philadelphia, tenth of May next. This convention issued an address to the people, warning them of their danger, exhorting them to union, peace and harmony, frugality, industry, and learning the military art.

1775, April 21, [two days after the battle of Lexington,] another convention met at Exeter, more fully attended than before, numbering on the 25th about 109 delegates.

1775, June 12th, Gov. Wentworth met the Assembly at Portsmouth. The Gov. recommended conciliatory measures to the patriots in regard to the difficulties between the colony and the king, but without success.

1775, July 11th, the Assembly met again according to adjournment, but the Governor, being at the Fort, sent his message and adjourned them to the 28th of September—but they did not meet. In September, the Governor, at the Isle of Shoals, issued a proclamation, adjourning the Assembly to April next. "This was the last act of his administration, and the last time that he set his foot in the province. Thus an end was put to the British government in New Hampshire, where it subsisted ninety-five years."

1775, May 17, a convention met at Exeter, whose members were regularly chosen in each town, parish and place throughout the colony. The whole number of delegates was 151. Matthew Thornton was chosen President, and Ebenezer Thompson Secretary. This convention was called the First Provincial Congress.

May 18, voted to establish a post-office in Portsmouth, and Samuel Penhallow to be Postmaster. There was a committee appointed to apportion a fair representation from the towns and parishes to the Second Provincial Congress, and the committee reported Nov. 14. The report was adopted, and is as follows: The whole number of Representatives, 89; Rockingham County, 38; Strafford, 13; Hillsborough, 17; Cheshire, 15; Grafton, 6; and the representatives to serve one year.

The time of the first Provincial Congress was principally occupied in devising measures for the defence of the colony, raising men, and collecting munitions of war for military operations. Their votes on civil affairs appear to be, generally, in the way of advice or request. This Congress was in session from May 17 to Sept. 2, and then adjourned to Oct. 31, on which day they assembled again, and were in session until Nov. 16, when the time expired for which they were elected to serve.

1775, Dec. 21, the Second Congress met at Exeter, and the whole number of members was seventy-five or seventy-seven, and their names and the towns which they severally represented, are as follows:

NOTE. Three or five of the Representatives were not present at the First Session of the Second Congress. More than one half of the above list were members of the Convention which met at Exeter April 21, 1775, or of the First Congress, which assembled May 17, 1775. Several of them were members of both.

Warner, New Breton, Perryston and Fishersfield were classed, but did not send a Representative to the Second Congress, which assembled Dec. 21, 1775. In the Legislature which met Dec. 19, 1776, Francis Davis represented the above named towns.

It is our intention, in some future number of the Register, to give a full list of the original names of towns and places, as existing in 1775, the incorporate change of name, and new towns formed by the division of old ones, to the latest period.

Dec. 28, a committee of five—Matthew Thornton, Meshech Weare, Ebenezer Thompson, Wyseman Claggett, and Benjamin Giles—were chosen to draft a form for a Constitution, and report as soon as may be.

1776, January 5, this Congress resolved itself into a House of Representatives, received the draft of the aforesaid committee, and with some slight alterations adopted it; and, in the words of the draft, established "a form of Government to continue during the present unhappy and unnatural contest with Great Britain."

This form of Government or Constitution provided "that said house then proceed to choose twelve persons, being reputable freeholders, and inhabitants within this colony, in the following manner, viz: five in the county of Rockingham, two in the county of Strafford, two in the county of Hillsborough, two in the county of Cheshire, and one in the county of Grafton.—to be a distinct and separate branch of the Legislature, by the name of a Council for this Colony, to continue as such until the third Wednesday in December next; any seven of whom to be a quorum to do business:

That such council appoint their President; and in his absence, that the senior counsellor preside."

The constitution provided, "that all public officers, for said colony, and each county, for the current year, be appointed by the Council and Assembly, except the several clerks of the executive courts, who shall be appointed by the justices of the respective courts." And the constitution further provided, "If the present unhappy dispute with Great Britian should continue longer than the present year,—and the Continental Congress give no instructions or directions to the contrary—the council be chosen by the people of each respective county, in such manner as the council and house of representatives shall order." All general and field officers of the militia, and all officers of the army were appointed by the two houses; also all civil officers for the colony, and for each county, except clerks, county treasurers, and recorders of deeds.

Precepts were issued annually by the two houses at or before the first day of November, for the choice of a council and house of representatives—and they held their first session on the third Wednesday in December next following.

January 6. The house of representatives proceeded and chose the following councillors: Meshech Weare, Hampton Falls; Josiah Bartlett, Kingston; William Whipple, Portsmouth; Matthew Thornton, Londonderry; and Nathaniel Folsom, Exeter, for Rockingham county. John Wentworth, Somersworth, and Ebenezer Thompson, Durham, for Strafford county. Wyseman Claggett, Litchfield, and Jonathan Blanchard, Dunstable, for Hillsborough county. Samuel Ashley, Winchester, and Benjamin Giles, Newport, for Cheshire county. John Hurd, Haverhill, for Grafton county.

The house then proceeded and chose Ebenezer Thompson Secretary of the colony of New Hampshire. The council made choice of Meshech Weare for their President.

Jan. 10. In convention, Nicholas Gilman was chosen Treasurer.

Jan. 20. The Committee of Safety was chosen, at this time of six in number. There had been one temporarily chosen on the 19th May, 1775.

The Committee of Safety, when in session, was familiarly called the "Little Congress," and not inaptly so, as this body, in the absence of the two houses, exercised unlimited power.

Jan. 23. A committee was appointed to nominate civil officers.

Jan. 26. A committee was appointed in each county, whose duty shall be to administer oaths to such officers of whom an oath by law is required, as may be appointed by this government from time to time. The same committee also shall procure suitable bonds from each and every county officer of trust, running to the speaker of the house of representatives.

Jan. 27. Judges of the Superior Court, four in number, were appointed; four Judges to each county, for the court of Common Pleas; also Judges of Probate, Coroners, Justices in Quorum, Justices of the Peace, and, for the present year, County Treasurers and Registers of Deeds. The whole number of appointments made on Saturday, the 27th day of Jan., 1776, was 153. On the same day both houses were adjourned to Wednesday, March 6, 1776.

March 14. "Voted, that Lieut. Col. Wentworth, Col. Evans, Col. Moulton, and Col. Gilman, be directed to warn all the militia under their commands to hold themselves in readiness to march at a minute's warning, properly equipped, and with five days' provisions." If called into service, to be paid as other troops in the service.

Much of the time, this session, was occupied by committees appointed for the purpose of examining various persons brought before them, on suspicion of being unfriendly to the movements of the Revolution.

June 10. A committee was appointed to draw up a Declaration of Independence, setting forth the sentiments of this Assembly "relative to the United Colonies forming themselves into States," and a copy of the same to be sent to the delegates from New Hampshire in Congress.

June 27. Voted to pay six shillings each, per day, to the councillors, representatives, secretary and clerk of the house; and three shillings per day to the assistant clerk. Judging from the appearance on the records, in all cases of absence of members during the session, a regular entry was made on the roll, and a deduction made for lost time, at the rate of six shillings per day. At this time the paper issue in New Hampshire was considered par value.

This Legislature held six sessions during their term of time, from Dec. 21, 1775, to Dec. 18, 1776, which occupied 125 days. When it is considered that a powerful enemy were on the coast of New Hampshire and in Boston, the beginning of the Revolution, so many difficult points brought before them to be considered and prompt action required, this Assembly had no minor part to perform; and with what wisdom, firmness and prompt decision they performed their part, we trust the historian's page will ever be a true record.

In the colony there were 52,700 inhabitants, 633 of which were slaves.

†Concord became the permanent Seat of Government in 1816. Before the Revolution, Portsmouth was the Capital, and from the commencement of the Revolution the sessions of the Legislature were held at Exeter to 1780, when they were changed about, and held in different towns—Portsmouth, Concord, Exeter, Charlestown, Dover, Amherst, Hanover and Hopkinton, but a larger portion of the time were held at Concord.

☞ The reader may observe that there is in the above tables a remarkable change in the order of the towns, from one census period to another. This may be accounted for in part by the division of towns, but there are other causes. Some towns have held their order, notwithstanding a division; others have lost their order, and even their class of 22 towns at one period and regained it at another; again, others have lost order and class, without division.

Military Department.

The old Militia System in New-Hampshire was abolished in its leading features in 1846, that is, of trainings and musters, except the annual enrolment of all persons liable to do military duty, and the annual meeting by companies, for inspection.

In 1847 the law of 1846 was repealed, and the old system revived, with some amendments.

The principal amendment is that of requiring the Brigadier General of each Brigade to select a suitable person, well versed in military drills, and the several Drill Masters so selected shall each receive a commission from the Governor, with the rank of Major; and shall receive $5 per day for his services during the time required for drill.

It shall be the duty of the Brigadier General of each Brigade to issue orders to his commanders of the several Regiments in his Brigade, to notify their commissioned officers to appear at some suitable place named by the said General, between the first and fifteenth of September, annually; and at such place designated when assembled shall, under the Drill Master, perform drill three successive days, but not more than five at one time. The musicians and commissioned officers shall each receive $3 per annum, and be allowed 4 cents per mile for travel.

The Militia of New-Hampshire, according to the returns made to the Adjutant General, is organized in four Divisions, eight Brigades, and forty-two Regiments; the 41st Regiment has never been organized. The number of Division and Brigade officers, June 7, 1848, was 65; Field and Staff Officers, 453; Cavalry, 576; Artillery, 1715; Infantry, 22,726; Riflemen, 1788. Grand total of the enrolled military force of the state, according to the returns, is 27,592.

Shakers.

There are in the United States fifteen Societies of Shakers, and the number of members is about 7000.

In New-Hampshire, there are two Societies; one located at Enfield, the other at Canterbury; both societies contain about 600 members.

Bishop, Joseph Johnson.
Associate, Abraham Perkins.
Trustees for Enfield—Otis Holbrook, Caleb M. Dyer.
Trustees for Canterbury—David Parker, Thomas Hoyt.

The Society at Enfield own about 2,500 acres of land, a considerable portion of which is under a fine state of cultivation, and produces abundantly—large wood and timber lots—a good water power, well improved—the unceasing industry of the members allows them to be large surplus producers; and at low freight over Railroad, find ready markets for Butter, Cheese, Sugar, Flannels, Knitwork, Wooden Ware, Lumber, &c., which they produce. The same may be said of the Society at Canterbury, with the exception of their not possessing an equal water power, and located a few miles from a railroad. The Shakers in Canterbury are about ten miles from Concord, the nearest point to a railroad.

Catholic.

Dover, Patrick Cannovan.

I. O. OF O. F.

The first Lodge of the Order in this State was instituted at Nashua, September 11, 1843, since which time the Order has been steadily increasing, and now numbers 23 Lodges and 6 Encampments, with a Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment.

For the year ending June 30, 1848, the number of initiations was 341; admitted by card, 45; withdrawn by card, 72; suspended, 78; expelled, 40; deaths, 20; reinstated, 16; whole number of members, 2191; increase of members for the year, 211.

The number of sick brothers relieved in the same period was 266; amount paid for relief of sick brothers, $4298.84; amount paid for funeral benefits, $788.74; total amount of relief, $5930.35.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

N. H. Asylum for the Insane.

Incorporated July 2, 1838, and the Asylum was opened for the admittance of those afflicted with insanity, September, 1842.

The Asylum is located in Concord, on Pleasant street, on an eminence overlooking the village, the rich valley of the Merrimack, and the adjacent country for several miles in circuit. Adjoining the Asylum are more than 120 acres of valuable land, well adapted to the wants of the Institution. This is cultivated to good advantage, mostly by the labor of the patients, to whom it affords the best of exercise, and to whose recovery it essentially contributes. The improvements which are in progress on the lands of the Asylum lead to the belief that it will eventually become the Model Farm for the State.

With a single exception, this is believed to be the only strictly self-supporting Asylum in the country, and the economy of its management entitles its officers to commendation.

The price of board for patients from this State is as follows:

For the first 13 weeks, - - - - - $2·25
For all subsequent time, - - - - - 2.00

For these terms patients are supplied with board, fuel and lights, washing, medical attendance, use of horse, carriage, &c.

The sum of $1500 was granted by the Legislature, June, 1848, for the relief of the indigent insane.

The friends of those unfortunate persons needing aid, and agreeable to the above grant, should apply therefor by petition addressed to His Excellency the Governor, to the care of the Superintendent of the Asylum.

Warden, James Moore.

Deputy Warden, Lyman A. Walker.

Chaplain, Rev. Eleazer Smith.

Physician, William Prescott, M. D.

We gather from the Annual Report made to the Legislature June 1, 1848, that out of 137 inmates who have left within the last five years, four only have been committed here, and but one is known to have been committed to the prison of any other state. The same course of discipline has been enforced as heretofore; that is, mild, but firm.

In reading, writing, and arithmetic, instruction has been given, and with a good degree of success; and in some instances, where the prisoners could neither read nor write at the time of their being placed at the prison, now read and write tolerably well.

The Physician in his report speaks favorably of the general health of the prisoners, and he further says, there has been no disease of a severe or malignant character. He gives great credit to the Warden and officers for their strict care to the ventilation and cleanliness in all of the departments. The Chaplain in his Report speaks of there having been considerable attention and apparent interest in the religious exercises on the Sabbath; most of the convicts having attended from choice. A part of the day was devoted to Bible class instruction and sacred music; books and papers have been furnished the convicts for reading.

All the convicts who are able to work are employed in the different branches of manufacturing carried on within the outer walls of the prison. For the present the work carried on is that of cabinet work, shoe making, and smithing.

Methodist General Biblical Institute.

This Institution, for theological instruction, has been established and located in Concord during the past year, for the accommodation of which the "Old North Church," so called, has been remodelled, and fitted up by the liberality of the citizens of Concord, and chiefly by those connected with the society at the north end of the principal village. This institution has now been in operation about one year, and its success is prosperous. The number of students is about 30.

Pembroke Academy.

This institution was founded in 1818, by Dr. ABEL BLANCHARD, who made a bequest of $1000, the income of which to pay the tuition of indigent young men, of genius and hopeful piety, irrespective of sect or intended pursuit in life. The Hon. BOSWELL STEVENS left a legacy of $1000, the income of which to pay the tuition of "poor boys of Pembroke, of good moral character," or, in case of deficit of these, "boys from other places."

The Building is pleasantly located on Pembroke Street, 5 miles from Concord. The Institution has a good Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus, Cabinet of minerals, and a Library, Maps, Charts, &c.

This institution has taken a high rank, and is well sustained by the patronage of the public.

BOARD OF TEACHERS.

JONATHAN TENNEY, M. A., Principal (since 1844,) and Teacher of Latin, Natural Sciences, and Belles Lettres.

INCORPORATED 1848.

This Institution is located at Andover, near the Northern Railroad, and commenced its first term on the 24th of August, 1848.

Principal, Prof. DYER H. SANBORN, A. M.
Preceptress, Miss ELIZA WINGATE.

From the popularity and success as an efficient and practical school teacher, which Prof. Sanborn has long sustained, the "Trustees consider that the privileges of this institution will be of a high order, and the facilities for acquiring knowledge, of an inviting character to the student."

Prof. Sanborn will have a Teachers' Class, for the express benefit of those who wish to qualify themselves for the business of teaching.

Woodman Sanbornton Academy.

This Institution is pleasantly located at Sanbornton-Square—a quiet, healthy village.

Principal, A. B. CALEF.

Concord Society of Natural History.

INCORPORATED 1846.

This Society was formed for the purpose of promoting the study and cultivation in the science of Natural History.

A spacious Hall, centrally situated, has been obtained, remodelled, and made convenient for the purposes designed; and the Society already have obtained 3000 specimens, and have them well arranged. The specimens are principally in the departments of Mineralogy, Geology, and Ornithology. They have also received about 100 volumes of Books, principally on Natural History.

During the Fall and Winter, once a week, an Essay is read before the members of the Society.

"Any person may become a member by signing the constitution and paying the annual assessment—$1.00 for males, and 50 cents for females.

"In forming a Cabinet, the aim will be to procure as complete a collection as possible of the natural productions of our own State. To this end, and to further the general objects of the Society, the aid of all the friends of science and lovers of nature is solicited. They are invited to become members, if not such already; to contribute in money, books, or natural productions, and to communicate any interesting facts which may come under their observation. Your aid is respectfully solicited."

Commissioner of Common Schools,

Rev. RICHARD S. RUST, A. M., Northfield.

The law requires the Commissioner to spend at least twenty weeks, annually, in the different counties in the State, for the purpose of promoting the cause of general education. The Commissioner is required, in the month of June, annually, to make a report to the General Court, which shall contain the substance of the returns from the several towns made by the school committees, and passed over to the Secretary of State on or before the first day of April; and, also, such information as the Commissioner may have collected, and such suggestions as to him may appear important or useful. He shall, also, procure 600 printed copies of the report, or any larger number which may be required by proper authority, and lay them before the General Court, in the June session. Salary of the Commissioner, $600.

From the very full and instructive report of the Commissioner of Common Schools for 1847–8, which he kindly presented us, we find there are in the State of New-Hampshire 2,131 school districts from which school committees severally made returns; from 13 towns no report was received; consequently such delinquent towns will not be entitled to receive their proportion of the Literary Fund.

Abstract of Statistics.

From a work of Tench Coxe, published by a Resolve of Congress, made in 1812.

In 1810 New-Hampshire had 12 Cotton Manufactories; 2 in the County of Rockingham; 1 in Strafford; 8 in Hillsborough, and 1 in Cheshire; whole number of spindles, 5,956; whole number of looms, (house looms) 20,970.

The amount of cotton goods manufactured in families, &c., in 1810, was 515,985 yards; mixed goods 930,978 yds.; flaxen goods, 1,090,320 yds.; blended and unblended cloths and stuffs, 112,540 yds.; tow cloth, 720,989 yds., and woolen goods, 900,273 yds. The aggregate number of yards, 4,271,085; estimated value, $1,760,417. The whole number of Fulling Mills, 135, and 497,500 yards of cloth were fulled for the year 1810.

Allowing the above statistics to be correct, the Cloth factories in the city of Manchester have made more than eight times as many yards of cloths for the year 1848, than were made in the whole state in 1810.

District Court in New-Hampshire.
